The acquired business comprises the employee benefits clients and associated staff led by Marty Josten, who has been with Josten Financial since 1990. The rest of Josten Financial, under the leadership of other members of the Josten family, will continue to operate independently, focusing on wealth management, retirement, life, and related financial planning services.

"I began this journey working alongside my father and have been honored to serve clients and staff through decades of change," said Marty Josten. "It was important to me to find a partner who valued relationships, consistency, and service as much as I do. Inszone offered that trust and continuity."

Chris Walters, CEO of Inszone Insurance Services, said, "We are honored to welcome Marty and his benefits team to Inszone. Their long-standing dedication to clients and staff reflects our values and strengthens our benefits capacity in Illinois and nationally."

Clients of Josten Financial will continue to receive the exceptional service they have come to expect, now supported by the expanded resources and expertise of Inszone Insurance Services.
